HIGH-TECH MATERIAL

4-way stretch and high lycra content for freedom of movement, durability and support. High breathability - more hygienic.

UNIQUE COMPRESSION ALGORITHM

We have over the years developed a proprietary software that is based on a unique algorithm for each individual pair of Retik compression tights. Based on 20 specific points on your body, we can obtain a pair of tights that give you optimal compression effect.

When you pull on your Retik-tights for the first time, you immediately notice the difference from other compression pants. You not only get a tight feeling in general, you get tights that fits you perfectly, because they are made only for you and your body.

OUTSTANDING MATERIALS

The material in Retik is specially developed to fully adapt to your bodies movements while regaining its original form, without getting stretched or weakened. The combination of Lycra and nylon makes the fabric dry quickly and allows your skin to breathe better than polyester based garments. The surface is very pleasant and gentle to your skin and also provides protection against UV radiation.

The fabric's isotropic properties means that it is equally strong in all directions. This feature is very rare among other types of shapewear. The material's low surface friction maximizes freedom of movement and makes it possible to perform demanding physical activities without restrictions or reduction in force.

Retik trousers is a durable and long-lived garments thanks to the quality, durability and sustainability of the fabric. We work with precision in every detail.

Creating perfect compression combined with appealing design is a challenge. Therefore, our designers have worked side by side with the medical team throughout the development process and judging by the feedback we have received the end result is very successful.

When you order your compression tights, you can put your personal stamp on the design. They're made for you and nobody else. To begin with, you can choose between gray or black color of the fabric. Then you can choose from three different accent colors - orange, turquoise or gray/black. We have two different models, one for men and one for women.

PERSONAL SUPPORT ALL THE WAY

For us, compression is personal. Therefore, we are also sure to provide you with personalized support. When you order your Retik compression tights, you will always meet with a certified fitter. This is done either at Camp Pro store in Stockholm or contact us at info@retik.se and we will help you.
